Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: With regards to claim 1, Applicant contends the prior art (Asay et al.) does not disclose nor suggest a link that correlates a public key certificate to a person identification certificate which stores a template serving as person identification data. The Examiner respectfully disagrees and asserts that Asay et al. disloses a person identification certificate link system comprising an entity which forms a link correlating at least two certificates including a public key certificate which stores a public key serving as a cryptographic key and which is generated by a first certificate authority and a person identification certificate which stores a template serving as person identification data and which is generated by a second certificate authority, thereby specifying one related certificate based on the other certificate in Column 1, lines 66-67 and Column 2, lines 1-20.

With regards to claim 4, the amended claims the following new issues that would require further consideration and/or search: wherein the data includes a validity period for the respective certificates, and a group validity period is set to be equal to the shortest validity period of those of the certificates related to each other.
